

COVID-19 Audience Polling

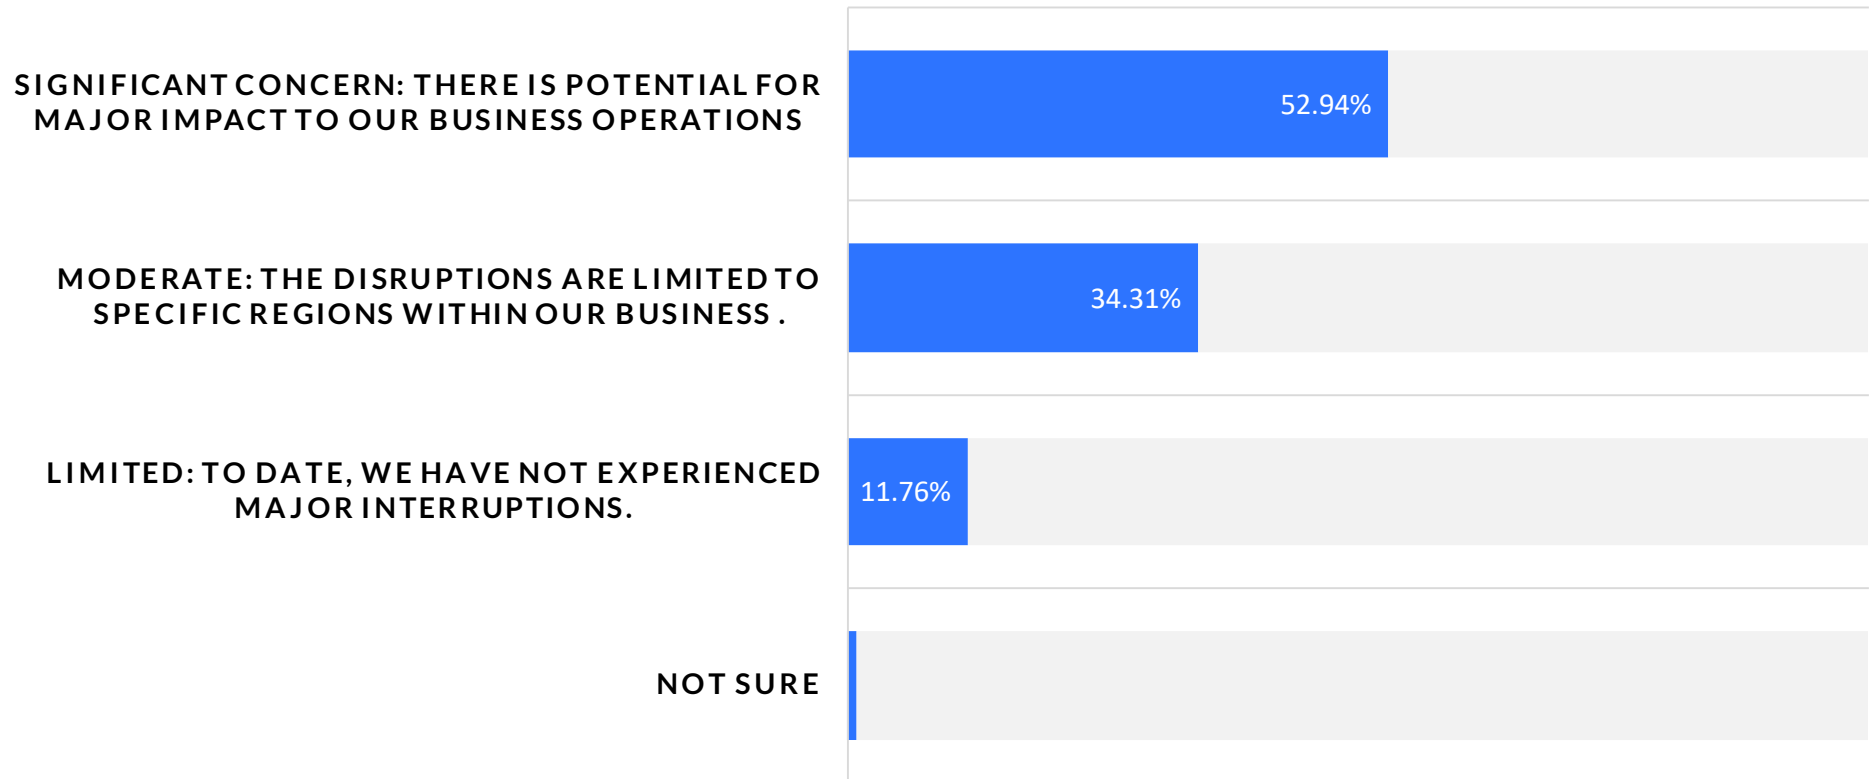

Amid uncertainty, companies express need for heightened service and predict economic turnaround. On April 21, BDP International conducted a virtual regulatory event for a wide array of companies from multiple industries and multiple countries.

Prior to beginning the informational sessions, our team sought to understand the overall mindset of companies as it relates to the current external factors like COVID-19, tariffs, the global economy, etc. As such, we conducted an anonymous polling session among our event attendees, and the results shed some light about how companies are perceiving present challenges and how they anticipate future ones.
